CARE INSTRUCTIONS FOR SOLID WOOD PART:

There are not two identical pieces of wood in the world. Natural wood contains different colours, knots and sap markings. Unless otherwise stated, the solid wood furniture is designed for general domestic use and must always be stored at normal room temperature as heat, moisture and cold might cause changes in the wood. Solid wood furniture will expand or shrink in wet or dry conditions.

All the furniture has been designed to leave room for this expansion and contraction. However, in order to keep your furniture in perfect condition and extend its life, you still need to comply with the following usage and maintenance requirements:

1. Wood expands and contracts with heat and moisture, do not place the product in any cold environments like a conservatory or porch and do not place directly in front or next to and heat sources.
2. To prevent discoloration of the wood/paint do not place in prolonged direct sunlight for example under a south facing window.
3. Only clean the product with a dry cloth or a slightly damp cloth is necessary. Do not use any cleaning products on the item as this will damage the finish and the wood.
4. Keep hot, wet or cold items away from direct contact with the product by using placemats etc.
5. Clean any spillages immediately to prevent any damage to the finish or wood.
